NEWS FROM WESTMINSTER.

Westminster, November 20.—Mrs. C. L. Foster, of Keturah, visited her sister, Mrs. Will Lesley, this week.

W. Jackson Reeder, of Atlanta, was in town last week, visiting homefolks, Mrs. H. J. Reeder and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gray have as their guest A. H. Gray, of East Dorset, Vermont, who is the father of Mr. Gray. This is his first visit to South Carolina. About forty years ago he made a trip to North Carolina and that was his last visit to the "Sunny South" until recently.

The many friends of Miss Daisy Foster are pleased to know she has again been enrolled as a pupil of the Westminster Graded School. She is one of our star pupils.

John Hamby, of Walhalla, has the contract for building a house for Capt. W. E. Cheswell, near the school house.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Graded School building on November 30th at 11 a. m. Rev. John I. Spinks, of the Methodist church, Rev. J. J. Harrell, of the Presbyterian church, and Prof. M. E. Brockman, of the Baptist church, have places on the program. The collection on that day will be for the different orphanages. Members of the churches and Sabbath schools should contribute liberally to such a worthy cause. We haven't learned as to how many of our citizens will close their places of business and observe the day.

Before an audience larger than any previous entertainment, S. M. Spedon, the cartoonist and artistic entertainer, lectured in the auditorium last Wednesday evening. He is an artist of no little ability and he gave a great deal of information as to how illustrations are prepared for newspapers and periodicals. His skill and ability at drawing was clearly shown in his crayon sketches on the chart of persons in the audience, which were so exact as to be quickly recognized. His wit and humor were side-splitting, so to speak, and everybody joined him in the chorus of his farewell song.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gossett attended the funeral of Mrs. Sallie Batson, of Greenville, on Saturday last. The deceased lady was a sister of the former.

W. J. Knox and Miss Roscoe Mason were united in marriage on Wednesday, November 15, Rev. John R. Moore officiating. Mrs. Knox is a daughter of E. W. Mason, of the Oakway section. Mr. Knox is the popular carrier on Westminster R. F. D. No. 3. Waymon Mason, of this place, attended the marriage.

Dr. J. H. Johns, of Atlanta, was in town last week.

J. M. Findley, a former citizen of this place, was circulating among friends here Saturday.

James T. Davis and Miss Lillie Cox were married by Magistrate S. H. Johns on Saturday morning, November 18.

Julius C. Boggs hauled thirty crosssties into town Saturday at one load. The wagon was drawn by five yoke of oxen. This was the biggest load of ties ever seen here on one vehicle.

Luther Addis, aged about twenty-five years, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. S. E. Addis, on the evening of November 13th. The remains were interred at Poplar Springs on November 15th.

The deceased was a son of Nathaniel Addis, deceased. He leaves a wife, mother and several brothers and sisters. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Sanders and was attended by a large concourse of sympathizing friends.

Mrs. Sallie Batson, wife of Henry E. Batson, died in the city of Greenville on last Thursday evening, after an illness of only two weeks of pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted at the residence on Saturday morning by Rev. J. F. Anderson, of the Methodist church, and assisted by Rev. D. W. Key of the Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Anderson performed the marriage ceremony at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Batson in Antioch church eleven years ago. Mrs. Batson was thirty-seven years old and leaves her husband and three small children. She possessed many warm friends in the city and in Pickens county, where she lived before her marriage. The line of vehicles which followed the remains to its last resting place in Springwood cemetery was more than a quarter of a mile in length. Jas. F. Mackey, undertaker, had charge of the burial. The floral offerings were beautiful.

Luther and R. M. England have built a couple of storerooms on their lot north of the depot. One of the rooms is now occupied by D. F. Mabry, the photographer and jeweler.

Glenn Sheldon, of Liberty, visited his sister, Mrs. M. S. Stribling, last Saturday. The cold spell has started the hog killing.

Fair D. Rothell, formerly of Battle Creek, has moved to town. He is the carrier on the star mail route to Long Creek.

Samuel Reeder, who has been in the employ of Mitchell & Son for some months past, has bought the interest of C. E. O. Mitchell, the senior member of the firm. Burt L. Mitchell and Samuel Reeder are now the proprietors of the firm.

Communion services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock.

A. L. Dillard has bought the house and storeroom near the Southern flour mills and is having the storeroom remodeled. Mr. Dillard will open a fresh line of groceries in December and will be pleased to have his friends and former customers call and see him.

B. M. England, of Habersham county, Georgia, is moving back to Westminster and will occupy his former residence.

Miss Addie Hiett has returned to her home in Pickens, after a visit of several days among friends here.

W. L. Poore has sold his house and lot in Westminster and moved over on the Georgia side.

A. L. Gossett.

THE NEWS FROM SENECA.

Seneca, November 21.—Preaching by the pastors in the Methodist and Baptist churches on next Sabbath at the regular morning and evening hours. Regular prayer service on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Baptist church, and on Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church. Services have been announced for Thanksgiving at the Methodist church for the morning hour by the pastor, Rev. E. S. Jones. At the evening hour the Presbyterian and Baptist churches, Revs. M. R. Kirkpatrick and C. Wardlaw respectively, will conduct a union service in the Presbyterian church. A full attendance is confidently expected, as the services will prove both interesting and profitable.

The turkey's gobble reminds one that Thanksgiving is near, and truly it should prove a day of real thanksgiving, inasmuch as our country has been so abundantly and peculiarly blessed.

Our grocery merchants are supplying the housekeepers with everything that heart or purse could desire for the Thanksgiving dinner. It is a gratifying fact that our market affords almost everything that can be found in our larger cities.

Jas. T. Reid, of this county, has bought the residence owned by J. F. Hinkle and occupied by Geo. C. Benedict, and it will be occupied by Mr. Reid. We welcome in advance these estimable people to our town.

We would mildly suggest to the residents of so-called Peachtree street (who by their walk and conversation declare themselves to be the only people) to come over and look about on Fifth Avenue. When it comes to fresh and progressive signs, including a number of new residences and others to follow, we claim at least a hearing.

Grading for the new side-track, which will extend from the railroad bridge through town and some distance below, is now well under way and presents a stir that shows a healthy sign. We take it also that this means the first step toward that aforesaid new depot.

A new enterprise for Seneca that will prove a wonderful convenience to our people is under headway, and before another season Seneca will have in her bounds the operation of an ice factory and cold storage plant. M. Stokes Stribling and W. K. Livingston, members of the wholesale firm of Stribling & Livingston, have purchased the lot from Mrs. L. W. Jordan and will operate the above industry thereupon.

The recital given at the Palmetto House on last Friday afternoon was a thoroughly delightful affair. The pupils of both the music and department of expression did distinct credit both to themselves and teachers and also afforded an hour of pleasure to their patrons and friends. We congratulate Mrs. Bates and Miss Willie Cherry upon this another successful entertainment.

Theatre goers enjoyed the three nights engagement last week of the Crescent Comedy Co. They made especial favorites of the Hawthorne Sisters, who appeared to fine advantage, both in specialties and in popular roles in the several plays.

J. P. Cary, of Pickens, T. C. Duncan, of Union, Eugene Lewis, of Buffalo, and Campbell Courtney, of Newry, were among the prominent out-of-town visitors to Seneca yesterday, these being in attendance upon the meeting of stockholders of the Seneca Cotton Mill.

Mrs. M. W. Coleman is in Seneca from a recent visit to Charleston.

Mrs. Horace McGee, of Atlanta, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Byrd and Mrs. Mary McGee.

Mrs. Simpson, of Toxco, visited Mrs. M. E. Sligh the early part of the week. Cliff Fincannon will enjoy a few days vacation with his homefolks here the last of this week. He will be accompanied by two friends from Atlanta, Messrs. Hamilton and White.

We were pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. J. B. and Mr. and Mrs. Edd Pickett, of the Richland church, at divine service in the Presbyterian church here last Sabbath.

Mrs. Sallie Gilmer was also a visitor to Seneca last Sabbath.

Miss Stella Falls, of Central, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence last week.

Dr. D. P. Thompson, of Gaffney, was in Seneca a few days the past week.

Rev. K. G. Finlay's illness prevented the usual service at the Episcopal church last Sabbath evening.

James McCarey is in Atlanta this week, where he will see an oculist for the purpose of having glasses fitted.

The stockholders' meeting of the Seneca Cotton Mills, called for Monday at 2 p. m., was postponed until December 18th at 2 p. m. A majority of the stock was not represented, either in person or by proxy, hence no business could be transacted. The affairs of the mill were discussed in an informal way, and from statements submitted by President Duncan the company does not appear to be in very bad shape.

We had the privilege of a visit to our schools last week and if our citizens generally knew what an encouragement it means to both the school management and patrons, surely the practice would be more general. Few of our citizens realize what our unpretentious little school building, with its daily work, means to our community. The principal, Prof. Clinkscales, courteously showed us through the various departments and we could but be struck with not only the effects of splendid discipline, but thorough work as well. After witnessing several recitations we were forced to declare that truly there are no brag scholars in the Seneca Graded School, or rather they are all brag scholars inasmuch as there could possibly be no distinction or difference in grade of efficiency. Let our citizens visit the school often, witness the perfect system with which every detail is managed and thus encourage teachers, trustees and pupils alike.

Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The past year has been marked by even increased blessings to our State and to our country. Our higher privileges as a people have been added to and our practical blessings have been more abundant than for many years. These can only come from the Giver of all good and in this spirit we should give thanks to God for His mercies, His blessings, His love.

Now, therefore, in accordance with the proclamation of President Roosevelt, and because of the gratitude which is in our hearts, I, D. C. Heyward, Governor of South Carolina, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, November 30, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by all the people of this State.

Upon that special day, refraining from secular pursuits, let us with thankful hearts lift our voices from the altar and from the fireside of home in gratitude to Almighty God for his beneficent and bountiful gifts. Let the grateful remembrance that should constantly abide in our hearts and lives find, on this day, voice of prayer and praise to Him whose guidance and whose care are never lacking. Let all public offices and private places of business be closed and let all assemble in their accustomed places of worship, there to give thanks for blessings unnumbered.

And may the beneficence of God to us as a people and a nation serve as an example in ministering unto the needs of those among us to whom the blessings of life have not been vouchsafed as unto others. May the day breathe the spirit of fraternal love and may its lessons guide us upward in the paths of civic righteousness and individual concern for the welfare of our fellowmen.

Given at the executive chamber at Columbia this sixteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirtieth.

D. C. Heyward, Governor.
By the Governor: J. T. Gantt, Secretary of State.

As to Prohibition in Oconee County.

[Anderson Mail, 20th.]

Walhalla, November 20.—Editor Mail: We have read your dispensary editorial in Saturday's paper and wish to reply to that part in which you state that you are informed that there is more whiskey being illegally sold in Oconee than was sold by the dispensary, and that the blind tigers are in full blast in almost every community. You have been imposed upon and such declarations are a reflection upon our officers and citizens generally. Give your authority and we will give ten reputable men to say that the conditions for sobriety, law and order have increased and drunkenness and disorder have decreased under prohibition for the name of each reputable man that informs you that the conditions are such as stated by you. We have nothing to do or say how Anderson must vote, but do not misrepresent us in trying to influence your county to take whiskey instead of prohibition.

Yours very truly,
James M. Moss.

We print in to-day's paper a letter from J. M. Moss, of Walhalla, who takes exception to a statement in an editorial in the Daily Mail of Saturday to the effect that the blind tigers are selling as much whiskey in Oconee and Pickens as the dispensaries ever sold. What the Daily Mail said was this:

"The constables have been sent back into Pickens and Oconee. People from those counties tell us that there is as much liquor sold there now by the blind tigers as the dispensaries ever sold, and the evil is more generally distributed, because now the tigers are in every town and community, while before the dispensaries sold the liquor and they were only in one or two towns in the county."

We really hope Mr. Moss is correct, and that we have been misinformed. We hope prohibition is really being enforced in Oconee, and that it will always be enforced. But if it is being enforced by the county officials we think the people of the county are being imposed on by having the State constables retained. The constables should be removed.

Of course Mr. Moss knows the Daily Mail had no wish to misrepresent the facts as to conditions in Oconee, and we thank him for the letter he has sent us.
